

Parkinson's Disease Awareness

Introduction

Parkinson's is a neurodegenerative disease which can result in the need for full-time care. This insightful course explains the causes of the disease, the symptoms and how it is diagnosed and treated.

You will learn about the effects Parkinson's has on everyday life and relationships, the different stages of the disease, and the issues faced in advanced Parkinson's. This course details how to deal with worsening symptoms and provides links to resources available to carers.
